

Rewrite Stories of Sonic #2 and 3 (Limited), and Sonic #1 and 2 (long going)

Story 1: Quest for the Princess' Tiara
(Formerly "A Crowning Achievement")
Fan fiction by Danny Wheeler

A ball was soon to be held in Mobotropolis, and Sally wanted to get out her best tiara (to match her gown) so she could look her best! But then, Eggman came in via transporter. "Eggman!" screamed Sally. "What are you doing here?" Eggman chuckled, "I wanted to give the hedgehog a challenge!" He snatched Sally's tiara and broke it into four pieces! He then said, "I will place two fragments in the Mobius of the Sky and two in the Mobius of Darkness! Let's see if Sonic can find them! Ha, ha, ha..." At that, Eggman transported out! Sally ran out of her room and went to Sonic's island home, which wasn't far from South Island, where Mobotropolis was.

"Your tiara's stolen?" Sonic asked in disbelief. "Yes!" Sally cried. "He even said that it was a challenge for you! He said that two fragments are in the Mobius of the Sky and the other two are in the Mobius of Darkness. Please get it for me!" Sonic said, "O.k. For you, Sally!" He then got his sidekick Tails and went out to find the Princess' Tiara!

The first fragment was located in a jungle. A giant Crabmeat guarded the place where it lay. When Sonic defeated it, a small gorilla was freed from the inside of it. After getting that fragment, he went to find the second fragment, which was in a crystal mine. A Gold Cyclops Super Badnik guarded it. When Sonic defeated it, a ball of energy hovered for a moment, and the energy changed to a fox friend of Tails. Two fragments were found... only two more remain!

The third fragment was located in an extinct volcano in the Mobius of Darkness. Sonic got close to where the fragment was, but a giant Fire Worm Super Badnik emerged. Sonic dodged the fire shots and smashed into the head of the worm. The ball of energy released from the robot's defeat became a young panda knight. After retrieving the fragment, he went to find the last piece... in Robotropolis! A mechanical tower was where the piece lay. When Sonic reached the top, Metal Sonic was ready to fight! Metal charged toward Sonic, ready to knock him off. Sonic dodged the charge and countered. Sonic fought until Metal was in serious need of repairs. Sonic picked up the last fragment and returned to the Mobius of the Sky. Rotor repaired the tiara, and Sonic put it on Sally. Soon, the ball began, and the people enjoyed themselves!

End

---

Story 2: Dreams of the Past
(Formerly "Sonic Flashback")
Fan fiction by Danny Wheeler

Sonic and Metal Sonic have a skirmish one night in the Mobius of the Sky. Though Sonic won and Metal retreated, the injuries caused Sonic to go into a state of unconsciousness. Sonic dreamed back in the days of peace, when Eggman did not threaten the land. He dreamed of the times when his family was united. He dreamed of his Uncle Chuck, his dog Muttski, his parents Jules and Bernie, and his times with the Royal Family. Those were peaceful times, when the land knew no tyranny, when Robotropolis was unknown to the people.

Soon, Sally and Tails woke Sonic up. Sonic found himself in a guest room in the Acorn Palace. Sonic described the dream he had. Sally explained, "Sonic... you were unconscious as a result of the wounds from Metal Sonic. But don't worry. The good times will come again... as soon as Eggman is out of the picture for good!" Sonic simply smiled!

End

---

-

Story 3: Robot Espionage
(Formerly "Why Ask Spy?")
Fan fiction by Danny Wheeler

Sally called Sonic to the palace one day. Sonic answered and visited. Sally explained, "Rotor has prepared a special suit for you. It is a Ball Hog disguise. With it, you can infiltrate Robotropolis and sabotage whatever Eggman's next plan is!" Sonic donned the disguise and prepared to enter the Mobius of Darkness. Some guard robots escorted the disguised Sonic to Eggman's fortress. Eggman asked, "Where have you come from?" Sonic, with a fake robot voice, replied, "I was Sonic before I was snared in one of the Badnik Makers! A Crabmeat turned me into a Ball Hog." Eggman snickered, "Good. Now I can use you to attack the Mobius of the Sky!" Sonic gasped for a moment, then decided to play along until the time was ripe!

Once on the Mobius of the Sky at night, Eggman kept Sonic in the guard of Metal Sonic. When the attack began, Sonic shed the Ball Hog disguise. Eggman gasped, "No! It was a trick! Sonic is still normal! Get him, Badniks!" The Badniks soon surrounded Sonic. But his friends came to his aid. Soon, more Badniks were trashed, thus resulting in more people and animals being freed! A great victory was won that night!

End

---

-

Story 4: Eggman's Vine
(Formerly "Meet Me At The Corner Of Hedgehog And Vine")
Fan fiction by Danny Wheeler

In Robotropolis, Metal Sonic presented Eggman a plant. At first, Eggman was angered, since he hated plants. But soon, Metal Sonic explained that the "plant" was a robot named "Krudzu". He then continued by telling him that the plant can strangle life forms that would dare threaten Eggman, including Sonic! Thrilled, Eggman tells Metal to plant the seeds of Krudzu in as much of the Mobius of the Sky as possible. Metal went out to do so. He planted the seeds at night!

The next day, Antoine, a guardsman of the king, went out to get some flowers for Princess Sally, but was soon ensnared by Krudzu. Sonic went out to save him by severing some of the vines. After returning Antoine to the palace, Sonic brought some of the vines to Rotor. Rotor analyzed the vines to discover that they were mechanical. Eggman was obviously behind it! When Rotor poured water on it, the vines shorted out. Water was the one weakness! Sally said to Sonic, "Sonic, take me to a hidden realm. If I can get my hands on a Chaos Emerald, I can create a rainstorm to destroy Krudzu!" Sonic carried Sally to a portal to a hidden realm in a cave. Soon, Sally got the Emerald they needed. She soon summoned a thunderstorm to rain on the Krudzu. The Krudzu was destroyed and the Mobius of the Sky was saved!

End

---

-

Story 5: Deadly Gamble
(Formerly "You Bet My Life!")
Fan fiction by Danny Wheeler

Sonic was relaxing on his island home, when Tails came with a message from Sally. Eggman was building an experimental Casino Maze Zone in the Mobius of the Sky. The Casino Maze Zone would bring in more candidates for the Badnik Maker. Sonic knew that that would mean trouble! The two got into the Tornado and flew off to stop the mad scientist's plot!

Once in the Zone, the place was guarded with pinball mazes (with flippers this time, unlike the Spring Yard Zone) and slot machine traps! Sonic raced through the maze to find Eggman's Headquarters. Eggman was well aware of the hedgehog's presence, however, and sent Metal Sonic to intercept him! Metal Sonic went out to do so.

The main hallway that led to the headquarters was the most dangerous. It got even more so when Sonic and Tails encountered Metal. He made a pose as to tell Sonic to go back or face disaster! Sonic read Metal's thoughts and said, "Forget it, Metal! I'm going to stop Eggman from carrying out his plans!" Metal attacked Sonic, but Sonic survived the blows and fought until Metal was critically damaged. After Metal Sonic retreated, Sonic and Tails entered the HQ. Eggman said, "So, you made it through! Well, you won't survive my latest surprise!" Eggman then released a giant Orbinaut, and it was throwing spikes like mad at Sonic! Sonic dodged the shots and destroyed the Badnik, freeing a small red bird. Eggman then activated the self-destruct sequence and exited. Sonic and Tails exited as well before the base blew up! The Mobius of the Sky was safe once again!

End

---

-

Story 6: Three's A Crowd
(Former title forgotten)
Fan fiction by Danny Wheeler

Metal Sonic was sent on another mission from Eggman. Metal brought with him three new Badniks to attack the Mobius of the Sky: Coconuts, an experimental prototype for the Coconut Badnik (which Eggman would use later on), Scratch, a chicken Badnik, and Grounder, an upgrade of the Burrobot. Coconuts was sent to attack the guards barracks of the palace, Scratch was sent to attack the treasury, and Grounder was told to drill into the basement, so Metal could capture Princess Sally!

Sonic, who was visiting at the time, heard the explosion from Coconuts' coconut bombs. Sonic raced out to intercept the attack! He faced Coconuts first. Coconuts tried to hit him with his coconut bombs, but Sonic sent one back and Coconuts was defeated. Released from him was a young spider monkey. The next Badnik to face was Scratch. Sonic dodged the super peck of the chicken and defeated him. A real chicken was freed from Scratch. Sonic fought and defeated Grounder after dodging his weapons, freeing another bird! But after that, Sonic heard a scream: Sally was in trouble!

Sonic raced back into the palace and found Metal Sonic holding Sally prisoner! Sonic shouted, "Hey, Metal! Pick on someone who can fight back for a change!" Metal accepted the invitation and prepared to fight. As always when fighting Metal Sonic, Sonic himself received a few hits, but Sonic eventually won, and Metal had to retreat for repairs. Sally kissed Sonic, saying, "Thank you, Sonic! You saved me and Mobius again!"

End

---

-

Story 7: Mystery Zone
(Formerly "Vertigo A Go-Go")
Fan fiction by Danny Wheeler

Sonic was exploring the Mobius of the Sky, collecting Rings, Chaos Emeralds, and treasures for the Acorn Royal Family. Soon, a portal to a hidden realm pulled him in. In the hidden realm, Sonic met two very peculiar humanoids. One was a thin, tall man named Verti-Cal! The other was a short, fat man named Horizont-Al. The two confused Sonic with their lines!

At first, Sonic thought they were Eggman's lackeys. But neither of them knew of the madman! Sonic knew that he was in a hidden zone. Soon, Sonic was transported out of the realm and back into the Mobius of the Sky. He returned to Mobotropolis and told his friends what he found. The people, even the princess, thought he was crazy, but Sonic knew it was real, and he knew that someday he would meet them again!

End

---